8:00 A.M. WELCOME

Senator Sara Love, Chesapeake Bay Commission Chair

Introduction and overview of agenda

8:05 A.M. NUTRIENT MANAGEMENT 101

All states within the Chesapeake Bay watershed are relying on agriculture to achieve a majority of the remaining nutrient reductions needed for a healthy Bay. Nutrient management is a foundation of those agricultural strategies and relies on a mix of education, funding and regulatory programs to be successful. What are the goals and best practices for using fertilizer and manure to maximize crop production and minimize the risk of excess nutrients contributing to water pollution?
