19 "The Ten Commandments

20 IAM the LORD thy God.

21 Thou shalt have no other gods before me.

22 Thou shalt not make to thyself any graven images.

23 Thou shalt not take the Name of the Lord thy God in vain.

24 Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy.

25 Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth
26 thee.

27 Thou shalt not kill.

28 Thou shalt not commit adultery.

29 Thou shalt not steal.

30 Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.

31 Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house.

32 Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his manservant, nor his maid servant, nor his cattle, nor 33 anything that is thy neighbor's."; and

34 2. The following context statement:

35 "The History of the Ten Commandments in American Public Education

36 The Ten Commandments were a prominent part of American public education for almost three centuries.

37 Around the year 1688, The New England Primer became the first published American textbook and was the 38 equivalent of a first grade reader. The New England Primer was used in public schools throughout the 39 United States for more than 150 years to teach Americans to read and contained more than 40 questions
40 about the Ten Commandments. The Ten Commandments were also included in public school textbooks
41 published by educator William McGuffey, a noted university president and professor. A version of his famous
42 McGuffey Readers was written in the early 1800s and became one of the most popular textbooks in the 43 history of American education, selling more than 100 million copies. Copies of the McGuffey Readers are 44 still available today. The Ten Commandments also appeared in textbooks published by Noah Webster that 45 were widely used in American public schools along with America's first comprehensive dictionary that 46 Webster also published. His textbook, The American Spelling Book, contained the Ten Commandments and 47 sold more than 100 million copies for use by public school children all across the nation and was still 48 available for use in American public schools in the year 1975."49 B. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require any school board to spend funds to purchase the 50 displays required pursuant to subsection A, and in order to provide such displays, each school board shall 51 either accept donated funds to purchase such displays or accept donations of such displays.52 § 23.1-401.4. Display of Ten Commandments in each classroom required.53 A. Each public institution of higher education shall display in each classroom on campus the Ten
54 Commandments on a poster or framed document that is at least 11 inches by 14 inches and that includes as 55 the central focus the following text printed in a large, easily readable font:

56 "The Ten Commandments

57 IAM the LORD thy God.

58 Thou shalt have no other gods before me.
