

Department of Planning and Budget
2026 General Assembly Session
State Fiscal Impact Statement

agency is required to investigate; however, this amount is indeterminate. It is anticipated that any fiscal impact on the agency resulting from this bill, considered in isolation, can be absorbed within existing resources. However, if multiple bills requiring expanded agency responsibilities for labor and employment law matters are enacted during the same period, the cumulative workload may exceed the agency's current capacity and could result in additional resource needs. Any funding provided can be allocated to Item 352 of HB30/SB30, as introduced.

Other: The companions of this bill are HB636 and HB1164; the two bills are identical.
