§ 59.1-615. App store providers; duties; prohibitions.

A. An app store provider shall:

1. For each app that the app store provider makes available to account holders on its app store, provide a clear, accurate, and conspicuous parental consent disclosure.

2. At the time that an individual in the Commonwealth creates an account with the app store provider or, for existing accounts, by July 1, 2028:

a. Request age category information from such individual; and

b. Verify such individual's age category using a commercially available method that is reasonably designed to ensure accuracy. Such method may include, if such individual is a minor, an affirmative age attestation by another individual who is reasonably believed to be the parent of such minor, along with other information collected in the ordinary course of account creation or use.

3. If the app store provider determines in the process of an individual creating an account with such provider that such individual is a minor:

a. Require such minor to create a minor account to be affiliated with a parent account; and

b. Obtain verifiable parental consent from the account holder of the affiliated parent account each time before allowing such minor to download or purchase an app or make an in-app purchase.

4. After receiving notice from a developer of a significant change to an app:

a. Notify each account holder that has downloaded such app of the significant change; and

b. For minor accounts, (i) notify each account holder of a parent account that is affiliated with a minor account that has downloaded such app of the significant change and (ii) obtain renewed verifiable parental consent before providing access to the significantly changed version of the app.

5. In response to a request made pursuant to subdivision A 4 of § 59.1-616, provide to a developer data relating to the age category for an account holder located in the Commonwealth and, if applicable, the status of verifiable parental consent for a minor account.

6. Provide a mechanism for an account holder of a parent account to withdraw consent, and notify a developer when verifiable parental consent has been withdrawn for a minor account.

7. Protect data associated with age category and other verification data by:

a. Limiting data collection and processing only to data necessary for verifying an account holder's age category, obtaining verifiable parental consent, or maintaining compliance records; and

b. Transmitting age category data using industry-standard encryption protocols that ensure data integrity and data confidentiality.

8. For pre-installed apps:

a. Provide available age category information in response to a request from a developer; and

b. Take reasonable measures to facilitate verifiable parental consent for use of the app in response to a request from a developer.

B. An app store provider shall not:

1. Enforce a contract or terms of service agreement against a minor account holder unless the app store provider has obtained verifiable parental consent;

2. Knowingly misrepresent information contained in the parental consent disclosure; or

3. Share data relating to age category except as required by this chapter or otherwise required by law.

§ 59.1-616. Developers; duties; prohibitions.

A. A developer shall:

1. Verify through an app store's data sharing methods the age category of an account holder located in the Commonwealth and, for a minor account, whether verifiable parental consent has been obtained;

2. Notify each app store provider that makes the developer's app available on its app store of a significant change to an app within a reasonable time frame;

3. Use data relating to age category received through an app store's data sharing methods to enforce any developer-created age-related restrictions, safety features, or defaults and ensure compliance with applicable laws and regulations; and

4. Request data relating to age category or verifiable parental consent (i) at the time that an account holder downloads or purchases an app or launches a pre-installed app for the first time, (ii) when implementing a significant change to the app, or (iii) to comply with applicable law.

B. A developer may request data relating to age category:

1. No more than once during each 12-month period to verify the accuracy of the age category of an account holder or continued account use within the age category;

2. When there is reasonable suspicion of account transfer or misuse outside of the age category; or

3. At the time that an account holder creates an account with the developer.

C. When implementing any developer-created age-related restrictions, safety features, or defaults, a developer shall use the lowest age category indicated by age category data received through an app store's data sharing methods or age data independently collected by the developer.

D. A developer shall not:

1. Enforce a contract or terms of service agreement against a minor unless the developer has verified through an app store's data sharing methods that verifiable parental consent has been obtained;

2. Knowingly misrepresent any information in the parental consent disclosure; or

3. Share data relating to age category with any person.

§ 59.1-617. Limitations.

Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to:

1. Prevent an app store provider or developer from taking reasonable measures to (i) block, detect, or prevent distribution to minors of unlawful, obscene, or harmful material; (ii) block or filter spam; (iii) prevent criminal activity; or (iv) protect app store or app security;

2. Require an app store provider to disclose account holder information to a developer beyond data relating to age category or status of verifiable parental consent;

3. Allow an app store provider or developer to implement measures required by this chapter in a manner that is arbitrary, capricious, anticompetitive, or unlawful;

4. Limit data collection to information necessary to comply with the federal Children's Online Privacy Protection Act (15 U.S.C. § 6501 et seq.);

5. Require a developer to collect, retain, reidentify, or link any information beyond the developer's ordinary course of business or beyond what is necessary to verify an account holder's age category as

157 required by this chapter;

158 6. Require an app store provider or developer to block access to an app that an account holder has 159 downloaded or installed onto a mobile device prior to this chapter's effective date, except where an account
160 holder of a parent account has withdrawn verifiable parental consent for an affiliated minor account or there
161 has been a significant change to the app; or

162 7. Prevent an app store provider or developer from complying with the provisions of the Consumer Data 163 Protection Act (§ 59.1-575 et seq.).

164 § 59.1-618. Safe harbor.

165 A. A developer is not liable for a violation of this chapter if the developer relies in good faith on the age
166 category received through an app store's data sharing methods and, if the account holder is a minor, on 167 notification from an app store provider that verifiable parental consent has been obtained.

168 B. An app store provider is not liable for a violation of this chapter if the app store provider relies in good 169 faith on a process to verify an individual's age category that is commercially reasonable and that such 170 provider exercises reasonable care in conducting such process. An app store provider relies in good faith
171 when, if there is reasonable suspicion that an account holder does not belong to the age category to which 172 his account is assigned, such provider took reasonable measures to reverify the account holder's age 173 category.

174 C. The provisions of this section apply only to actions brought under this chapter and do not limit a 175 developer's or app store provider's liability under any other applicable law. Nothing in this chapter shall 176 displace any other available remedies or rights authorized under state or federal law.

177 § 59.1-619. Civil penalties; civil action.

178 A. The Attorney General may initiate an action against an app store provider or a developer in the name
179 of the Commonwealth and may seek an injunction to restrain any violations of this chapter and civil penalties
180 of up to $7,500 for each violation under this chapter. All civil penalties, expenses, and attorney fees collected
181 pursuant to this chapter shall be paid into the state treasury and credited to the Regulatory, Consumer
182 Advocacy, Litigation, and Enforcement Revolving Trust Fund. The Attorney General may recover reasonable 183 expenses incurred in investigating and preparing the case, including attorney fees, in any such action.

184 B. Any minor or parent of a minor who suffers harm by reason of a violation of any provision of this 185 chapter may bring a civil action against an app store provider or a developer to enforce such provision and 186 may seek the greater of actual damages or $1,000 for each violation under this chapter and, if the violation
187 was egregious, punitive damages. Any person who is successful in an action brought pursuant to this

188 subsection shall recover reasonable attorney fees, expert witness fees, and court costs incurred by bringing 189 such action.

190 2. That the provisions of this act shall become effective on July 1, 2027.
